- Chilewich Plynyl: Although it has been on the market for a number of years, Chilewich has recently introduced a few new formats to their line, including a "velcro" system for do-it-yourselfers.
- Van Speijck Hardwoods: New to the US market, Van Speijck engineered hardwoods are unique to the industry. They offer a vast array of colors, but rather than using stain, which is a topical treatment that will be removed after the first refinishing, Van Speijck uses various chemical treatments that molecularly change the color and appearance of the wood. Due to this process, the color won't change if ever refinished.
- Cavan/Antrim: These hand woven wool products that are fairly new to the market, but are definitely a must see because these wool products are extremely thick and comfortable underfoot. Making them ideal for area rugs, especially after price comparing them with other custom wool product lines.
